Phototherapies are safe and effective treatment options for psoriasis and do not incur the side effects of systemic medications. The 308-nm excimer laser is considered first-line phototherapy for plaque psoriasis. The 488-nm frequency-doubled ArF excimer laser is able to treat psoriatic plaques. The excimer laser is able to treat psoriatic plaques with that of the 308-nm excimer laser. Phototherapy is a safe and effective treatment option for patients with psoriasis.

Phototherapies are safe and effective treatment options for psoriasis and do not incur the side effects of systemic medications. The 308-nm excimer laser is considered first-line phototherapy for plaque psoriasis. The 488-nm frequency-doubled ArF excimer laser is able to treat psoriatic plaques. The excimer laser is able to treat psoriatic plaques with that of the 308-nm excimer laser. Phototherapy is a safe and effective treatment option for patients with psoriasis.